HAMLIN-ALBANY PLAY TOUGH GAME

Friday night, October 8, the Hamlin Pied Pipers and the Albany Lions met on the Albany field, for a football game. Which was a fight to the finish by both teams, with Albany winning by a score of 27-0.

The Hamlin boys stopped play from one formation, but due to the lack of weight of Brookie Pitcock, who was substituting for Herman Treadwell, Albany was able to circle their right-end, without much resistance.

The first touchdown for Albany came after Albany intercepted Hamlin's pass, the Hamlin end being delayed on the line of scrimmage. Albany then ran for a touchdown around their right end.

A long pass from Nicholson to Dean came very near resulting in a touchdown for the boys in green and white; but Dean slowed himself down, by looking behind him. In the last quarter, Fowler intercepted an Albany pass and ran about 40 yards, before he was stopped.

MISS RHEBA LEE HERBST WILL MARRY

MR. CHARLES E. McMILLAN

The following announcement has been received by the Herald:

Mr. Rufus Herbst, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Rheba Lee, of Pampa, formerly of Hamlin, to Mr. Charles E. McMillan, of Pampa.

The wedding is scheduled to take place, Sunday, October 17, 8:30 a. m., First Christian Church, the Rev. John Mullins, minister, officiating.

KICKED BY A MULE

This week, we met our farmer friend, L. M. Huddleston of the Hixon community and he looked like he had come in contact with the back end of a brick wall.

We ask him how the other fellow looked. He replied, the other fellow was the fabled business end of a pesky mule.

It came about this way: Huddleston was preparing an oil well pit last Sunday, and by some means the mule objected to Sunday work and whammed away and let Mr. Huddleston have it right square in the forehead. It must have been a "star-lit" kick for his eyes and face showed dark and cloudy days after. It could have been a death blow, had the frontal bone not been there instead of the back or maybe the middle of the face. Naughty mule! or should we say a "Sunday mule."

DR. ESTES' FATHER KILLED IN CALIFORNIA

Dr. Jack Estes of this city has the sympathy of all his acquaintances, because of the death of his father, Dr. J. M. Estes, of Abilene, who was killed suddenly by an automobile in or near Los Angeles, last Sunday.

Dr. J. M. Estes was a pioneer West Texas physician and many Hamlin people knew him. He was prominent in the affairs of Simmons University at Abilene and was a very public spirited citizen.

SATISFYING

"Go on," he remarked teasingly "if I were to die tomorrow, you'd marry again in no time."

She wheeled from the gas range and said in a voice trembling with emotion. "I wouldn't wipe my feet on the best man who ever lived, except you."

And he went back to work feeling real happy.

M'CAULLEY MATTERS

By JOHN P. HARDESTY

The following named attended the Fisher County B. Y. P. U. Rally at Sylvester last Friday night: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Akins, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. P. Hardesty, Misses Alline and Nola Akins. A program of unusual interest was given by the Seniors of Sylvester followed by a social hour, during which refreshments were served. The next monthly rally will be entertained by the Roby young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hennington are entertaining a young lady who was welcomed to their home last Tuesday, Oct. 5th. No name good enough for her had been found at last report.

J. J. Crowley, who has been in a Sweetwater hospital for treatment for the past ten days, is expected to return home Friday. His improved condition is a joy to his family and friends.

Miss Vera Tate, teacher in the local school visited home-folk at Lubbock over the week end.

The Miers Gin caught afire last Wednesday morning, but quick work by the "volunteer fire department," soon extinguished the blaze, which destroyed a small amount of cotton.

A. M. Eivens is on the sick list. His condition was improved at last account.

The entire community sympathizes with Miss Nell Riney, teacher in the high school, whose father passed away at his home in Abilene last Saturday. The following McCaulley people attended the funeral rites in Abilene, Sunday afternoon: H. P. Powers and wife, Melvin Courtney and wife, Kenna Rector, Imogene Schulze, Hettie Logan Clay, V. W. Jackson, D. L. Smith, M. L. Akins, Mrs. W. H. Stephenson, Corrine Akins and Thelma Dean.

The Freshmen class is to have a class party at the home of Alvin Johnson, Friday night. This group is sponsored by Miss Kenna Rector. Friday afternoon is time for the next P. T. A. meeting. The school program is to be given by the Intermediate grades.

Mrs. Melvin Courtney supplied Monday and Tuesday as high school English teacher during the absence of Miss Nell Riney.

Believe it or not, the first six-week term of school is gone. No one has realized this fact more fully than the pupils as they struggled with six week tests this week. The first reports are to go to the parents, Tuesday.

Bernice Reynolds, Junior, scored 95, which was the highest grade made on diagnostic tests in English given last week. Leaders of other classes and their scores are Betty Jo Abbot, Senior, 93; Helen Smith, Sophomore, 92; Ina Bell Jones, Freshman, 91.

Ernest Smith and family of Rotan were visitors in the home of D. L. Smith, Sunday.

HARLEY SADLER

The One and Only, West Texas' own showman, will bring his big company of entertainers and stage show, "Rose of the Rio Grande," for two nights only, Hamlin, Friday and Saturday, October 15th and 16. Auspices Fire Department.

SOME RAIN AND COLD WEATHER

Probably somebody did "pray" since last week for a rain. We got it. Nice little rain for this time of the year, but not near enough. Enough for what? To make the creeks run and the ponds fill up—not a bit. But really the rain did do lots of good and some damage. It settled the dust and left a better feeling for an early winter.

It looks as though we are going to have a real winter, if we may judge by this early cold snap. Old coats felt good Wednesday morning and the gas man was the most called for man in Hamlin. He was kept busy from early till late. Some called him Monday on a hunch that sometime soon, a chill spell was coming.

Wheat farmers say the moisture was shallow and is not enough yet to get a stand of wheat. So if it does not rain, wheat need not be sown.

The cotton harvest has been slowed up after a number of unbroken weeks of choice weather, and a record breaking gathering spree. It now looks like the cotton "puller" will gravitate back to a warmer climate, if there be one. Keep wishing and praying for rain, maybe we will get one of big proportions by next May—or sometime in the next few years or so.

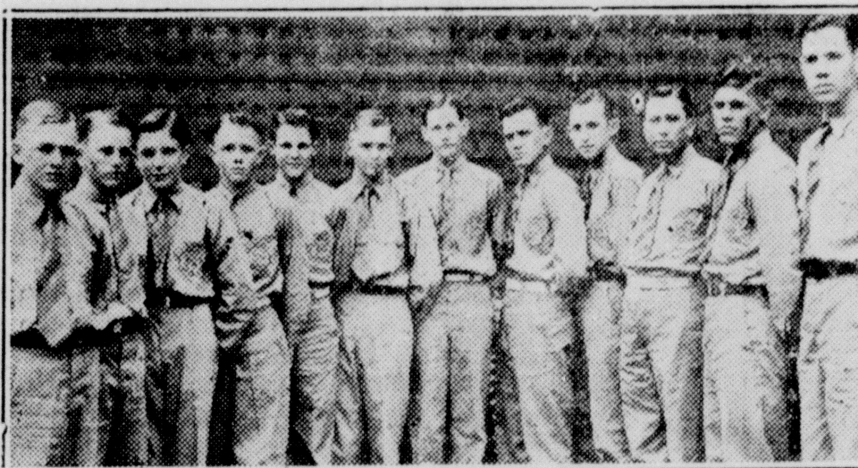

HUNTERS V. HUNTED

Quail meat on the dinner table might well become a delicacy of the golden past were it not for the constant efforts of state game officials to keep such birds evenly distributed over the state.

Last year over 4,375 quail were raised on the game preserves and distributed, 315 wild turkeys and 123 deer. There are 97 state game preserves where this work is carried on, encompassing over 2,699,293 acres.

However, on the other side of the fence there were 20,565 hunters on the 1,370 shooting preserves last year, and they killed over 7,500 deer, 16,500 ducks and geese, 2,250 doves and quail and 1,590 turkeys.

ROBY FUTURE FARMERS

WINNERS OF STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

Conceded to be the smoothest Future Farmer chapter conducting team ever developed in Texas, these Future Farmers of Roby, Texas, who won the State F. F. A. chapter conducting championship at Huntsville this year, have been awarded an expense-paid trip to the National F. F. A. Convention in Kansas City, October 17 to 22, where they will perform before more than 5,000 delegates from 84 states. Since winning the state championship, these boys have traveled more than 3,000 miles in Texas as guests of various civic organizations and conventions on whose programs they have appeared.

Miss Bernice Fairey, who is attending Texas State College for Women, in Denton, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Fairey in Plasterco. As she was returning to Denton, Sunday she suffered an attack of appendicitis and was taken to the Stamford Hospital where she underwent an operation Monday morning. A card from Miss Fairey's mother says she stood the operation well and is doing nicely.

Mrs. A. G. Hudson and daughter, Miss Pearl Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hudson and John Hudson visited Mr. and Mrs. Cling Hudson and family in Cross Plains, Sunday.

Mr. and J. D. Ballew of Breckenridge visited Mrs. S. K. Dillard, Mrs. T. A. Nolen and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Dillard, Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Vera Nobles and daughter, Miss Mary Marguerite left Tuesday, for Lubbock where they will make their home during the school term. Mrs. Nobles son, Warren, is a student in Texas Tech and Miss Mary Marguerite will attend Junior High School.

Mrs. J. D. Farrow who has been confined to her room for the past four weeks is reported to be improving. Mr. Farrow who has also been sick for several weeks is much improved and will soon be able to be out again.

Mrs. Forest Boyd and Mrs. Joe Ben Lewis, of Sweetwater were here Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Farrow and other friends.

Mrs. Albert L. Johnson and little son Robert Leslie, returned Sunday from a visit in San Angelo with Mrs. Johnson's parents.

COUNT THE COTTON CROP TO DATE

HAMLIN COMMUNITY 6917 BALES

Now down here at Hamlin, we find that the FOUR gins have received and ginned 4731 bales and the Neinda Gin has handled 2180 bales, this season.

In Hamlin we are observing that once again cotton dealers and warehousemen are needing vacant lots to erect shed room and weighing quarters.

Robert S. Johnson has filled his first warehouse full and has a new location farther east and a new storage house going up, almost complete. He will likely handle 10,000 or 15,000 bales.

Harden storage is taking care of more than 2,000 bales. Cotton is being concentrated here from a wide area for government storage and compressing.

Miss Lucille Newsom returned to Abilene, Monday, where she is a student in McMurtry College, after spending the week-end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Newsom.

MRS. TURNER BEARD'S FATHER KILLED BY MULE

On Wednesday morning of last week, Mrs. Turner Beard of this city received the news that her father, W. M. Keller had been killed at his ranch home, five miles from Dublin.

He had roped a mule and by some means his arm became entangled in the rope and the mule became unruly and ran with him, causing a horrible death.

Mr. and Mrs. Beard, joined by Mrs. Rector of McCaulley, a step-sister, hastened to the home.

PARENT-TEACHER ASS'N.

HOLD SOCIAL MEETING

The Parent-Teacher Associations of the Hamlin schools met in joint meeting at the High School Auditorium, Thursday evening at seven-thirty.

The assembly was called to order by Superintendent Green, who introduced Miss Pauline Harrell, the Public School Music teacher. Miss Harrell, assisted by Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Farrow, Miss Gilbert, and Mr. Bonner, led the audience in a round of songs ranging from the "ridiculous to the sublime," creating an atmosphere of jolly good will.

Mrs. Martin, the Elementary Parent-Teacher Association president and Mrs. Cherry, the High School president, delivered addresses which would have given credit to a veteran politician. These were followed by speeches of welcome and greeting by Mr. Bennett and Mr. Hastings, principals of the high school and elementary school. Mrs. Miller, the popular and efficient head of the expression department, read, very realistically, James Whitcomb Riley's poem, "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin."

A count of the mothers and fathers present, according to rooms, was taken and the prize offered to the room having the largest number present, went to the Freshman class of the high school, and the Low Fourth room of the Elementary school.

At this point, the entertainment committee requested that the assembly retire to the entrance halls where refreshments were served. In the games which followed, competition ran high, mothers, fathers, teachers, and our superintendent bouncing and frisking around like six-year olds.

Meetings of these kind are very beneficial in creating a friendly and understanding attitude between the teachers and the parents of our children.

HASKELL TO STAGE ANNUAL FAIR

With one of the most varied presentations in years, the annual Central West Texas Fair will be officially opened Wednesday, Oct. 20.

"Something Doing Every Day," was the slogan adopted by the directors of the association sponsoring, and nothing has been left undone to make the fall festival outstanding.

Interest of the majority of the visitors will probably be centered around the thrilling automobile races and the Annual Pioneer's Parley. Six races daily, with some of the most daring drivers making mid-western and coast meets, slated to appear, have been carded for Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. The Pioneer's Parley, which "stole the show" in 1935, will be held Friday.

day with a free street parade and shows in afternoon and night.

Parade lovers will enjoy a thrill which will be remembered for years after viewing the gigantic parade which will be staged Wednesday noon. Everything usually connected with a parade will be in evidence, but added features assure a spectacle which should overshadow anything seen in West Texas this year. Pioneers, vehicles of a by-gone day, modern methods of transportation, several high school bands and grade school entertainers, school children and horses and riders galore will form a large part of the parade, but the outstanding feature centers around the theme of various "Mother Goose Rhymes," in which school children of this section appear. Beautiful and gala-decorated floats, sponsored by business firms will be seen. Beautiful girls, especially chosen will be in command.

A school pageant, in which children of the county, visiting sponsors and others take part, is scheduled for Wednesday night.

A special barbecue is slated also on Wednesday for sponsors and escorts. Football under lights will be played on Haskell's turf field between Haskell Indians and Roby Lions, Friday night, Oct. 22nd.

New riding devices and new shows will be featured all week by the Western States Shows.

FISHER COUNTY CLUB NOTES

(By Jewell Hipp, Assistant H. D. Agent, Fisher County.)

Jimmie Dee George, poultry demonstrator of Swedonia 4-H Club has completed the following goals:

1. Purchased fifty buff minorca baby chicks.
2. Provided brooder space, feed hoppers and waterers.
3. Keep accurate record of feed of the chicks.
4. Prepared and served poultry products six times.
5. Provided laying house for the pullets that are laying at the present time.
6. She sold 20 cockerels and has 22 pullets on hand.

Marcile Jesse, poultry demonstrator of Moody 4-H Club has raised 45 out of 50 barred plymouth chickens, she hatched from eggs she purchased from Mrs. George Webb of Capitola. She provided brooder space, feed hoppers, and waterers for her chicks; kept an accurate feed record prepared and served poultry products six times, and has assisted fellow club members with their poultry work.

Mrs. Bland Hope, yard demonstrator of Moody Home Demonstration Club gives the following report of her yard improvement demonstration: "I had just finished remodeling my house so I wanted to improve my yard. I talked it over with my husband and he thought it a good idea, and agreed to help me. The first thing that we did, was to ask the Home Demonstration and County Agents to come out and look the situation over. It happened that Miss Sadie Hatfield, Landscape Specialist of A. & M. College was in Fisher County at that time; and Mr. Nee Cochren, Sanitarian of Abilene was doing some sanitation work in the County. They both came out to help us with the yard.

"Mr. Cochren liked the placement of the pit-type toilet, on lower ground than the house and a good distance from the house. He suggested curbing the cistern and installing a self-priming pump, which we were unable to do this year, but see the importance of doing so, to keep down diseases.

"Miss Hatfield helped Miss Hipp make the yard plan, which covers a period of three years. In this way I know exactly what to plant and where to place it correctly. The yard is inclined to slope to the North west. Mr. Roensch suggested we throw up a terrace on the west side to hold the water and to prevent washing. On this terrace we planted Chinese elms and green ash. The elms have done nicely, the growth of the green ash are slow. We planted 92 trees, 58 of the elms are living and 28 green ash and black walnut."

One of the best ways to grow plants for the yard, without cost is by having a cutting bed. I prepared one 8x12 inches and placed wax leaf ligerstrum, crepe myrtle, blooming willow, armur rivera privet, and yellow jasmine. After the first freeze in the fall these plants are to be transplanted to the places where they are needed in the foundation and screen. The back yard was too small, so we enlarged it four feet across and planted wild plum, armur rivera privet, red bud, and black walnut for screen plantings and shade. In foundation plantings were placed 5 privets, four yellow jasmine, one evergreen japonica and one spirea. The lawn was sodded with bermuda grass. A stepping stone walk was laid in the front, from natural rock. It is slightly curved to the East, which makes it more interesting and fits into an informal landscape better than a perfectly straight one.

The piece of furniture for the outdoor living room added, was an outdoor fire place. This was built through the assistance of the Assistant H. D. Agent, Club Members and Mr. Hope. It was constructed from native rock and scrap iron for the grate. The only cost was for the cement, 65c. I used the fire place for an incinerator, and to heat wash water, as well as to cook outdoor suppers, which are enjoyed.

A very enjoyable piece of yard equipment is a hammock, which was made from good strong staves of a barrel. Two holes were bored in each end of the staves and strung with medium sized galvanized wire. A pad for the hammock was made from an old quilt and covered, for it was the good part of an old cotton sack. I am going to dye it dark green to harmonize with the yard. I have already learned a lot in my yard improvement work this year and the main thing is, I know how to go ahead next year and continue improving it, as well as help other people with their yard improvement work.

KNOW TEXAS

By F. L. McDONALD, T. S. C. W.
NEWS BUREAU, DENTON

DENTON, Oct. 12.—Moans and groans aver the fact that the buffalo is gone forever from the Texas range are all very well, but forward thinking people are doing something more than groan over the gradual demise of other types of Texas wildlife.

The Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, A & M. College, the American Wildlife Institute, and the United States Biological Survey are now all working together to protect and increase the wildlife resources in Texas.

Methods of such groups include the study of habits and necessities of various birds and animals, a continual restocking of game preserves, and the careful formation of game laws for the mutual benefit of hunter and hunted. These determined workers must have the full support of Texas hunting citizens if this conservation policy is to be effective.

TEXAS RANGE AND LIVESTOCK REPORT

The outlook for winter range feed was not favorable in Texas on Oct. 1, 1937, according to the monthly livestock and range report of the Bureau of Agriculture Economics issued through the office of V. C. Childs, Agricultural Statistician. September has generally been very dry, only local areas receiving moisture of consequence during the last half of the month. During the first week of September rains fell over much of the State, but since that date very little moisture has fallen. Harvest of feed crops has progressed rapidly under the favorable harvesting conditions. Preparation of soil for fall planting made rapid progress, and small grains are being seeded rapidly in the South Plains area.

The early September rains in the northwest portion of Texas were very beneficial to ranges and the improvement in the condition of range feeds was marked. However, more rain is generally needed to supply subsoil moisture and to insure grazing from small grain fields. In the South district conditions continue very dry. There is practically no range feed available, and feed crops were almost a failure. Elsewhere in the State, however, good feed crops have been produced, and in the South Plains and portions of North-Central Texas surpluses are available. The condition of all ranges on October 1, 1937, at 74 percent of normal, compares with 72 percent a month ago, 86 percent a year ago, and 79.1 percent of normal, compares with 72 percent a month ago, 86 percent a year ago, and 79.1 percent the 10-year average condition on Oct. 1. There has been very little change in the reported condition of ranges from a month ago, except in the Northwest district where marked improvement was reported.

Cattle continued in fairly good flesh through the western half of the State, but some "shrink" was noted in South Texas and through the central portion of the State. The movement to market and to feed lots in Northern States has been very heavy, and ranchers in many areas are selling close at satisfactory prices. Feeding operations in areas of surplus feed production will be increased materially over a year ago. The condition of cattle on Oct. 1, 1937, is reported at 79 percent of normal, compared with 79 percent a month ago, 86 percent a year ago, and 81.8 percent the 10-year average condition on Oct. 1.

Sheep have held up well during the month, and marketings have been very heavy. The outlook for winter range feed is not favorable, and many ranchers are taking advantage of the favorable price situation and are selling close. The movement of sheep from Texas this fall will probably establish a record movement for the period. The condition of sheep is reported at 79 percent of normal, compared with 80 percent a month ago, 84 percent a year ago, and 81.8 percent the 10-year average condition. Feeding operations in Texas are expected to be much heavier than a year ago.

Uncommon Americans

By Elmo Scott Watson

Mr. Currier and Mr. Ives

THEY gave Americans of their day the equivalent of the news reels of today. They were the pictorial historians of contemporary American life a century ago when newspapers contained little or no picture material except an occasional fashion print.

When a steamboat blew up, a great fire swept a city or some other disaster occurred, Mr. Currier and Mr. Ives immediately put out a colored picture of the event with plenty of action in it. When the United States was at war, they issued splendid battle pictures with plumed generals on prancing horses (and plenty of gory detail as to dead and wounded soldiers). There were pictures of horse races and other sporting events, there were pictures of swift clipper ships and pictures of the first transcontinental trains running amidst Indians and buffalo. There were highly moral pictures there were even "comic strips"—caricatures of life among the negroes, called "Darktown Comics."

It all started back in 1830 when young Nathaniel Currier, working as an apprentice to John Pendleton, who had returned from Europe with the new art of lithography, began thinking of setting up his own business. So he went to New York and started as a lithographer in partnership with a young man named Stoddard. This partnership lasted only a year but in 1835 Currier began again. He soon built up a profitable business but it wasn't until 1850 when James A. Ives became his partner that fame and fortune came to them.

For 30 years Mr. Currier and Mr. Ives were "printmakers to the American people" and Currier and Ives prints of one sort or another were to be found on the walls of virtually every American home. In 1880 Currier retired with a fortune but the firm continued with a son of the founder in his place. In 1888 machine color printing was applied to their product and even greater numbers of their pictures flooded the country.

In recent years Currier and Ives prints have become "Americana." Where once these prints sold from six cents to $3, they are now selling for anywhere from $20 to $500. And one of them recently brought $3,000!

Atonement in Advance

IT HAPPENED in Arizona. A barnstorming theatrical troupe had just boarded a train to go on to the next town. A lounging cowboy strolled over to where an actor was sitting on the observation platform of the train.

"Ain't you the brother of that fellow who killed Abe Lincoln?" he asked.

"Yes, my friend," replied Edwin Booth. "I'm the brother of that unfortunate boy." At this reply the abashed cowboy started to leave.

"Wait," commanded Booth, "I have a story to tell you." And this is the story he told:

Several years before, while he was waiting at a station in Illinois, he saw a small boy toddle on the track just as the train was pulling in. Instantly, he made a dive for the child, grabbed him and rolled with him off the track. Then he got up, dusted himself off and boarded the train.

Some time later he received a letter thanking him for his act. The boy's name was Robert Todd Lincoln and the letter was signed "Gratefully, A. Lincoln."

"And so, my friend," said Edwin Booth, "I made some little atonement in advance for the misdeed of my brother."

U. S. Map-Maker Logs Mexican Roads

Map-maker James D. McClure took to the railroad ties (upper left) from Uruapan, State of Michoacan, to the west coast, in his logging tour of Mexico. Forging the rocky creeks (upper right) was no novelty for McClure, as he pushed his Chevrolet over 75 such crossings in the course of a two-day journey of 48 miles. Straddling a 2 1/2-foot ditch (center) was frequently necessary, too. One of Mexico's first-class highways (left center) provides a beautiful setting for the map-making car. Typical of the scenic wonders in Old Mexico is the view at right center in Haustead Canyon, about 15 miles off the Laredo highway at Monterrey. Sunrise from the summit of the Nevada Toluca road (lower right). Three hours from Mexico City, McClure had gained an altitude of 15,000 feet. "Mexico not only offers scenery of unsurpassed beauty and grandeur, but is friendly and hospitable to tourists," McClure reported. "It is an ideal vacation land."

A Sure Way to Murder A Town and Community

A few years ago, Ye Editor chanced to be in a certain West Texas thriving little city, a town that has grown and is still growing, mainly because of the spirit of co-operation among its citizenship, and its wide-awake spirit of trade expansion, and trade holding. At that time, we naturally visited a printing concern, which was not so extensively equipped for work.

In nosing about in that printing factory, our eyes happened to see the date line of another city on a piece of stationery, and down at the bottom, we saw the name of the City Manager, and by-the-way, it started with the letter "Z." It was some kind of tax notice to the citizens of the town. In that city where Mr. "Z" was employed, and where Mr. "Z" got his living, his children educated and where many things came to him, because of his residence therein, there were two fairly well equipped printing concerns, who were struggling to stay in business. But Mr. "Z" deemed it wise (?) to send to a neighboring town for something that should have been purchased in the place where he got his living. We wondered in our mind just how the Mayor and the members of the City Council felt to be oking a bill that took home "tax money" to help build up their competing neighbor.

The above illustration about the unwise action of the Mr. "Z" serves to illustrate a sure way of killing ANY TOWN and its surrounding community.

Mr. "Z" might have been very hard to please.

In Hamlin and in every little city, regardless of size there are many "sophisticated" people who get it into their heads that it is smart to buy something in another city. There is no way to stop it completely, but public opinion should be constantly built up to make people "home conscious" and patriotic enough to realize that they are cutting their own throat and everybody's about them whenever even a dollar is carried out of the home town to some other merchant or whatever concern it may be.

There is but one excuse for trading in some other place—that is, if one can not possibly get the article he must have at home. Then it is trade building, town building, to make your wants known to your neighboring merchant or citizen who should carry the goods in stock.

To our mind there is nothing so discouraging to a merchant than to stock goods that will compare with anybody's, anywhere and then see people who get their living in his town, chase off and buy the same article and maybe at a higher price than he is offering. Sometimes people get it into their minds it is cheaper "over there" than at home and to save a few nickles they start cutting their own throats, economically.

The illustration about the city manager buying his supplies in some other city, serves to make clear how easy folk get "hooked." The two papers in Mr. "Z's" home town were loud in their praise of him when he moved to some other city, or got fired from his position. What they should have done was to "give the devil his dues." As a matter of fact "devils get 'their dues' in time."

Here is another tip towards "murdering your town." Sometime ago, we were down in Hamlin's main drag, one Saturday night, and we observed that the entire streets were more than crowded. We visited with one merchant and he was as blue as a "sheared sheep." He said the town was going to the d----- and that it "was no use." To our great surprise, later, we found that this same merchant spent about $4.00 on a false advertisement in a corner of the world where it meant not a penny to his business. He used poor judgment and was sick and sore about something. This is another method to murder your town.

That same night, we passed over to the other side of the street and butted into a bunch of farmers—and as usual complaints are pitched at the newspaper man. This bunch of farmers were complaining about many things. Among them was the accusation that Hamlin did not pay as much for eggs, butter and cream as some other places. That Hamlin merchants charged higher for goods than some other places and on and on, several other fields of complaint, even going so far as to say, "right this very afternoon, we saw your such and such women, whose husbands get their living right here in Hamlin, on the streets and trading in another city, and why that?" These farmers are close observers—sometimes right in their conclusions too. They made the argument that a merchant should not complain at other people for going to some other town for goods as long as they are guilty of the same unpatriotic deed.

A good way to see your town die is to employ a gang of folk, and as soon as pay, day comes, watch them hike out and spend the money in some other town. There is no excuse to have men and women at the head of this and that organization for the purpose of "upbuilding the town" and keep thus honoring them in such capacity, and at the same time see them play traitor, boycotting the very community that feeds them. It does not stick well with a merchant to see Mr. so and so, up talking about building up the community and strutting about in a suit of clothes purchased in some other town not far away.

Another good way to murder your city is to mismanage public affairs, over-tax and recklessly spend, and keep the public ignorant about the spending as possible. It is not true, "what you don't know don't hurt." But it is true that folks in a town, who don't give a dam what happens to its various enterprises, should get out and quit being "blood-suckers."

Co-operation, honestly done, will get everyone and everybody somewhere, but fake co-operation will sooner or later be found out and the result is like a traitor to his country in time of war.

To our mind, everybody should urge, demand, insist on the home merchant carrying what we need, and be willing to allow him reasonable profit to make a living, pay expenses and taxes. But some people never go about their merchant except to get a hand-out for some charitable purpose. They are on the "gimmie" list and they need to be told where to head in. If people are living off of a community they should try to support the enterprises of the community.

Many a good town has been murdered by jealous, griping tight-fisted folks who think that whatever is in the community is not good enough for them.

COY MAGEE MARRIES

A STAMFORD GIRL

Think of one of Hamlin's most prominent young men springing a surprise on his old friends by going off and getting married—and say, it was more than a week ago, too. It began to dawn on his friends the latter part of last week, that he had gotten married on the previous Saturday night, and right here in Hamlin, too.

He was united in marriage to Miss Dorothy Marie Coe, of Stamford. The ceremony being performed at the home of Justice of the Peace, Grogan Turner.

Coy is not a fellow for publicity, and really is a bit "coy." He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. L. S. Magee of this city and for a number of years has been bookkeeper for the Cotton Oil Mill at Sweetwater and the past year or more has been with the Hamlin Cotton Oil Mill.

Billie, D. C. and Weldon Reynolds, Fischer 4-H Club boys of the Swedonia Community, are feeding three "dry lot" Hereford calves as their 4-H project under the supervision of T. H. Roensch, Fischer County Agricultural Agent and Tarlton Willingham adult leader.

The records on these calves since being placed on feed and for the last thirty days are listed below:

Billie Reynolds placed calf on feed Aug. 25, weight 460 lbs. Total gain in 35 days, 120 lbs.—Tom H. Parker, breeder.

D. C. Reynolds placed calf on feed Aug. 1; weight, 335 lbs. Total gain in 60 days, 120 lbs.—J. D. Smith, breeder.

Weldon Reynolds placed calf on feed Aug. 1; weight 335 lbs. Total gain in 60 days, 150 lbs.—J. D. Smith, breeder.

The three calves consumed 1,100 pounds of a feed ration composed of oats, maize, barley, wheat bran, cottonseed meal and black strap molasses in the last 30 days and 1,450 pounds for the total feeding period.

The average daily consumption of the ration for each calf is 9.35 pounds, and the average cost of feed to produce one pound of beef is $.0364 (believe it or not) on present market prices of feed.

A VOLUNTEER

The preacher had just finished a sermon on the duties of wives to mother their husbands.

"I want every woman who will go home and mother her husband to stand up," he cried.

A little woman, who was known to be a trifle deaf, leaped to her feet.

"Ah," cried the preacher, "there is one woman who will mother her husband."

"Mother him?" cried the woman, sitting down again, "I thought you said 'smother him.'"

Curious No. 9

PERHAPS you have noticed some of the peculiar properties of the number nine—for instance, multiply it by the cardinal numbers from 1 to 9 in order and the right hand digits in the result will be 9 to 1 in order.

Here is another curiosity, pointed out by an early American mathematician:

If the cardinal numbers from 1 to 9 inclusive, omitting 8, be used as a multiplicand, and any one of them, multiplied by 9, be used as a multiplier the result will be a succession of figures the same as that multiplied by 9. For instance, take 5 times 9, which equals 45, for a multiplier. Here is the result:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
6	1	7	2	8	3	9	5
4	9	3	8	2	7	1	6
5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5

Or take 7 times 9, which equals 63, and the result will be a series of 7's. A similar result will be obtained by using all the other numbers, including 8 (72); but the 8 must in all cases be omitted in the multiplicand.

Why? Ask a mathematician. Maybe he can tell you and maybe he can't! © Western Newspaper Union.

Recognition came to a young Texas actress recently when Miss Gladene Parr of Wadler was chosen from among 300 applicants for a role in the latest production of the Theater Guild of New York. While a student in Denton she was named the most beautiful girl and the most outstanding dramatic student on the campus.

THE REST OF THE RECORD

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

I regret that the first ten days of the special session wound up in a bitter personal attack upon me. I have been called so many mean things that I just decided I couldn't possibly be as bad as I was painted.

Anyway, the people are not interested in personalities. They are interested in what the legislature does. The revenue-raising situation is more acute than even I had suspected.

This week the entire membership of the Board of Control issued a written statement that unless additional money was raised by the legislature at once for old age assistance, the board will have to suspend payments for two or three months after November 1. They pointed out to the legislature, as I had done, that the old age assistance fund owes $1,627,000 to Dallas banks on past due warrants. This money has been due nearly a year and the banks have demanded payment.

The Board stated they felt as I do, that more money should be paid to the old folks so as to increase the amount of payments and add more people to the old age assistance rolls through the coming winter months. They said the present grants average $14.00 a month but unless the legislature provides more money the Board will have to reduce the payments.

That puts it squarely up to the legislature! I have called them in special session and have made my recommendations. As yet no bill has been passed, but I hope by the time you read this column that the lower house will have sent a tax bill to the Senate. You see, under the Constitution, tax bills must originate in the House; and the Senate has been marking time while some members were talking about the vast sums of money they could save by economies if appropriations were submitted. Last week a majority of the Senate ruled that I did submit appropriations and economies. It is up to them now to demonstrate to the taxpayers how the Senate can save all these millions they talk about by cutting down the very appropriations voted by them in the regular session against my recommendations. We shall see.

One fact remains: if they make any economies it will only help the general fund, which is more than fifteen million dollars overdrawn. We still must have more money for old age assistance and we can't economize there. We must have some money for aid to the blind and to dependent children; we have got to carry out our contract with the teachers.

Remember—unless some money is raised for these purposes by this legislature the old folks are going to suffer even more and we will have failed to carry out the President's program for the blind and for under privileged children which was voted by the people. Those of you who are interested should let your senators and representatives know how you feel about the matter.

I was very happy last week when Senator Clay Cotten of Palestine made a speech on the Senate floor in defense of the President and his program. He said in part:

"In reply to a statement by the Governor of Texas that the issue now drawn before this Senate is one of human rights against property rights, the Senator from Galveston is quoted as having said: 'Every tyrant from Nero to Franklin D. Roosevelt has used that argument.'

"I am indeed sorry for him or any other man who becomes so wrapped up and warped in his own opinions that he would reach the point where he would brand not only the governor of his state, but our beloved President, as a tyrant comparable to Nero."

"I want and I think this Senate wants the people of the country to know that in his vicious assaults upon President Roosevelt the Senator from Galveston does not speak for the great masses of the people.—He does not voice even the sentiments of the people of his own district."

"—Franklin D. Roosevelt has not only brought back prosperity to the captains of industry, but through his social security program he has ministered to the aged needy and has provided funds which, if Texas will but do its part, will feed the hungry and clothe the naked throughout our borders."

"It is not going to be any pleasure to me to have to vote for taxes—but we have no option. The people have spoken at the ballot box. They told this legislature to provide for the needy old people—for aid to the blind—to help unfortunate children. "This state is rich in resources."

We can provide these funds without substantial injury to anyone by taking only a small portion of the vast profits being made in this state—I would respect the wishes of my people by voting for adequate tax revenues at this special session."

Brooklyn Bridge Jumper

BACK in the eighties the Brooklyn bridge was one of the wonders of the modern world. Its dedication on May 24, 1883 was an event of nation-wide interest but three years later it was even more in the news because of a man with whose name that great span has been linked in popular memory ever since.

He was Steve Brodie, bootblack, street car conductor, sailor and worker around the docks who became a professional walker as a means of earning some easy money. But he was never better than a second-rater and none of his walking matches ever benefited him greatly. In the summer of 1886 he was nearly "broke."

One day in July he heard some of his friends talking about the latest casualty among the men who had tried for fame and fortune by diving from the Brooklyn bridge to the river, 135 feet below. Seven of them had tried it and all of them had been killed.

"Huh, I bet you I could do it and not be killed," boasted Brodie. "Bet you $100 you can't!" replied a friend. "You're on!" was Brodie's answer. But he was evidently none too confident that he could make good on his boast for he took out a life insurance policy for $1,000 as a protection for his wife, just in case

On July 23, 1886 Brodie jumped off the bridge and came up without a scratch. Officials of the life insurance company were furious because he had risked $1,000 of their money to win $100. They returned his premium and cancelled his policy—which was foolish, for he lived to a ripe old age!

His successful jump was widely publicized. It won him an engagement in a melodrama called "Blackmail" and his performance in this (at $100 a week) made "Brodie, the Brooklyn Bridge-Jumper" famous all over the country. His achievement encouraged imitators and during the next few years no less than 11 others tackled the nation's most spectacular high dive. Although the first seven had perished in their attempts, Brodie seemed to have broken the jinx, for every one of the 11 survived. By that time the novelty of such a feat had somewhat worn off. But Brodie's fame as the first to make a successful jump was secure. Moreover, he contributed another picturesque phrase to the American language, for "doing a Brodie" is still a synonym for a spectacular jump or plunge from a height. © Western Newspaper Union.

Fairy Crosses

"THE most curious mineral found in the United States is Staurolite, otherwise known as a 'fairy stone.' Staurolite is an iron aluminum silicate found only in Virginia, the reddish-brown and brownish-black crystals occurring in well-defined crosses."

So says a report of the United States geological survey. But if you visit a certain valley among the rugged foothills of the Blue Ridge mountains in Patrick county, Virginia, the natives there will tell you a different story.

Two thousand years ago, so they say, this valley was the home of a band of fairies. One day as they were dancing around a clear spring in this sunlit valley, an elfin messenger arrived from an eastern land far, far away. He brought the news of the crucifixion of Christ, and when the fairies heard the sad news, they wept. Their tears fell to the ground and crystallized into little pebbles. On each tear-rock a beautiful cross appeared.

The fairies have long since left that valley but you can still find their crystallized tears there. They range in size from a fourth of an inch to an inch and a half and form some shape of a cross—St. Andrew's, Roman or Maltese. Virginia is the only place in the world where they can be found and from the Old Dominion they have been carried to all parts of the world.

Presidents (among them Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson) and European kings have been possessors of these little stones. Many a soldier (and general, too) carried them in the World war, for they are good luck pieces. So if you believe in fairies, you can believe that these fairy crosses will bring you good luck, too.

TIME

A backwoods farmer was met in the field one day by a modern agriculturist. When asked what he was doing, the farmer said he was driving his hogs down to the woods where they could eat acorns and fatten up for the fall market.

"Why, that's not the way to do," said the agriculturist. "The modern way is to build a pen in the yard and carry the acorns to them. It'll save lots of time."

TEENY WEENY HOLES

Quicker Oiling - Quicker Starting with WINTER OIL-PLATING

You know that your engine must be oiled instantly throughout, or be tortured at every cold start.

You can imagine trying to rush cold oil everywhere at once, through scores of tiny oil-holes and passages.

How long before lubricant gets to where it is badly needed?

Less than no time at all!...with Conoco Germ Processed oil—patented.

This is the Winter oil that gives you far greater surety than mere fast flow. It OIL-PLATES your engine.

Before any other oils can even start to go where needed, exclusive OIL-PLATING has already arrived! In fact, it's been there all the time, because Germ Process action on all moving parts leaves them lastingly OIL-PLATED.

OIL-PLATING cannot drain down. It smooths and speeds the first turn of your ice-cold engine. Saves battery juice. And you save quarts of oil this Winter, by changing now to Germ Processed at your Conoco Mileage Merchant's.

Write for "The Story of Oil-Plating", Dept. 1, Conoco, Ponca City, Okla.

INTERESTING FACTS CONCERNING COTTON

In China and the rest of the Far East, cotton warehouses are called "godowns."

In America, cotton classers usually work with their backs to the light. In England they usually face the light.

The highest price on record for middling cotton in New Orleans, was quoted in the season of 1864-65, —$1.90 a pound. The lowest in 1844-45, —4% cents.

In Bremen the offices of cotton merchants are open at 8 o'clock at night, or later. Their time is six hours ahead of New York time, and the offices must remain open during New York trading hours.

When the term "middling" as descriptive of a grade of cotton first came into use is not definitely known, but it was being used in Liverpool in 1800. Before that date cotton in America was classed as prime, seconds, thirds, quality or inferior.

Eli Whitney derived little profit from the manufacture and sale of his cotton gin, the invention of which has meant billions to the South. What money he finally received was from gifts voted him by the legislatures of three Southern states.

Floyd Breazeale, of Sweetwater, spent Sunday here as a guest of Miss Opal Brown.

TEN COMMANDMENTS ON HOW TO GET ALONG WITH PEOPLE

1. Keep skid chains on your tongue; always say less than you think. Cultivate a low, persuasive voice. How you say it often counts for more than what you say.

2. Make promises sparingly and keep them faithfully, no matter what it costs you.

3. Never let an opportunity pass to say a kind and encouraging thing to or about somebody. Praise good work done, regardless of who did it. If criticism is merited, criticize helpfully, never spitefully.

4. Be interested in others; interested in their pursuits, their welfare, their home and families. Make merry with those who rejoice, and mourn with those who weep. Let every one you meet, however humble, feel that you regard him as a person of importance.

5. Be cheerful. Keep the corners of your mouth turned up. Hide your pains, worries, and disappointments under a pleasant smile. Laugh at good stories and learn to tell them.

6. Preserve an open mind on all debatable questions. Discuss but don't argue. It is a mark of superior minds to disagree and yet be friendly.

7. Let your virtues, if you have any, speak for themselves, and refuse to talk of another's vices. Discourage gossip, and make it a rule to say nothing of another unless it is something good.

8. Be careful of others' feelings.

Wit and humor at the other fellow's expense are rarely worth the effort, and may hurt where least expected.

9. Pay no attention to ill-natured remarks about you. Simply live so nobody will believe them. Disordered nerves and poor digestion are common causes of backbiting.

10. Don't be too anxious about getting just dues. Do your work, be patient, keep your disposition sweet, forget self, and you will be respected and rewarded.—The Co-Operator.

The One and Only, West Texas' own showman, will bring his big company of entertainers and stage show, "Rose of the Rio Grande," for two nights only, Hamlin, Friday and Saturday, October 15th and 16.

WHAT HAVE YOU IN YOUR EAR?

Often we have heard the expression, "I'll put a bug in your ear," and given it little heed, but should any one tell us that now, we would be very certain that they did not even get close to our ear, since we have learned of the various objects that have been taken from the ears of Tech students.

Below is a story from Texas Technological News Service that sounds almost like a magicians work.

LUBBOCK, Oct. 12.—At least one student at Texas Technological College is sold on the benefits of the annual physical examination required of every registrant. Homer Harold Hanna, freshman engineering student from Breckenridge, reporting for physical examination at the Lubbock sanitarium, explained he had been "hard of hearing" since he was a small child.

Probing by the examining physician disclosed a wad of cotton as large as the end of a fountain pen lodged tightly against the drum of each ear. The youth's hearing was fully restored with the removal of the cotton. A similar obstruction of cotton was found in another boy's ear. Examination of over three thousand students resulted in the finding of a long black bug in a young lady's ear where it had been lodged for 6 or 8 months, a glass bead in a boy's ear, a piece of crayola from another boy's ear, and a piece of lead pencil from still another boy's ear.

In addition to these articles taken from the ears of Tech students an assorted collection of beans, peas, cottonseed, and other articles add to the extensive exhibit. Doctor explained that very often when children have an ear ache parents may place a piece of cotton in the ear and forget to take it out.
